

I drive a truck and I find extremely handy to know in advance what the weather and traffic is like before I get into a city. It also keeps me informed of the weather around my home town area (Dallas/Fort Worth). At first I didn't use it much, but now I check to see if the city I am going into is covered and if it is, to see what the road conditions are.